

Radio Broadcast Script:

Thank you for listening to the LIN (Long Island News) radio station: your fastest news source with the latest happenings on Long Island.

Today's date is Monday Sept. 25, 1922. There are many events taking place this week. Coming up this Saturday, September 30, East & West Egg Motor Company will be hosting the 29th annual Long Island Automobile Auction at 12 noon. Be sure to be there to bid on the car of your dreams. Remember to bring your cash, and maybe you will be the lucky bidder who drives home in a brand-new or used vehicle. If you tune in on LIN this Saturday, we will be broadcasting the auction live from the scene. After the commercial break, we will be giving you an exclusive sneak peek of some of the automobiles being auctioned off, so stay tuned.

Welcome back to the LIN radio station. As promised, here is the first exclusive sneak peek of this Saturday's automobile auction. The first vehicle up for bidding is a used blue coupé. This luxury car is an enclosed vehicle with seats for two and up to three passengers. Some features include glass windows in front of the passenger seats and one door on either side. A fixed roof keeps away rain, snow, and dirt from the streets. This "easy-going (125)" car is perfect for daily road travel in and out of the city. They have been seen on the streets "flashing by with flurries of dust (123)." The estimated starting bidding price will begin at $90. The average price of a coupé costs around $600-700. Stop by and bid on this unique colored, but modest automobile.

The next vehicle is the one and only Yellow Rolls-Royce. This "gorgeous (63)" car is "a rich cream color, bright with nickel, swollen here and there in its monstrous length with triumphant hat-boxes and supper-boxes and tool-boxes, and terraced with a labyrinth of wind-shields that mirror a dozen suns (64)." Other features include fenders that "spread like wings (68)," a massive engine with multiple cylinders, speed gears that allow the vehicle to travel up to 60 mph, and a convertible roof. This luxurious car is perfect for the flashy and daring driver. However, it is not recommended for the inexperienced driver, as it is also known as the "death car (137)." Bidding prices will begin at $500. On Average, the roll Royce can cost thousands of dollars. The new owner will surely be the talk of the town.

Next, we have the beloved Dodge, which is comparable to the Ford Model-T. The Dodge features a steel body, steel fenders, electrical engines, and a 15-gallon capacity fuel tank. These cars are built with quality and durability. It is perfect for everyday travel for a common working person. Bidding prices will begin at $80, and the average price is about $700.

Lastly, is the most popular vehicle of America: the black Ford Model-T. This simple car runs on gasoline, and is suitable and affordable for any type of driver in any class. You will find a variety of Model-Ts out in the streets. Some common features include convertible or non-convertible roofs, no windows, seats for up to 3; and it can travel up to 45 mph. Bidding prices begin at $50, as the average price is around $300. This automobile is the deal to steal.

This sums up the exclusive sneak peek. There will be more vehicles looking for new homes at the auction, such as used taxis, limousines, and more. Thank you for listening to LIN radio station. More on the happenings of Long Island will be featured soon. Have a great day!
